

OMS Prayerline – Tuesday, March 1, 2022

Ukraine, Pavlo and Halya Lozynsky

Continue to pray for Pavlo and Halya as they open their home and church to refugees streaming through their city of Lviv.

- Pray that many will hear of eternal Hope in Jesus.
- Pray for wisdom and strength for Pavlo and Halya as they try to help as many as they can; that Pavlo and Halya will draw their strength from God's inexhaustible resources
- Pray for resources for food, water, medicines, gas to take people to the border
- Pray for protection for Pavlo and his family, including their daughters.
- Pray for emotional healing for the people of Ukraine
- Pray for the Ukrainian government as they make decisions
- Pray that the war will end soon.
- Pray that the Ukrainian believers will be strengthened and faithful

Mark and Livia Nelson, Estonia

The Baltic Methodist Seminary had students from Ukraine, Belarus, and Russia.

Pray for the Ukrainian students, teachers and graduates serving churches in Estonia, that God will protect their loved ones in Ukraine, comfort them and help them focus on their studies and ministry. Four Ukrainian students are currently writing their diploma theses to graduate this spring.

Pray for the Russian and Belarusian students to see through the lies being told about the situation and that they would not be shamed by other students. Pray for respect and love on both sides.

Pray for the Seminary family as they work with local churches to provide relief for refugees who are arriving. The seminary has offered alternative housing for students so the dorms can be used for refugees.

Pray that the conflict will not spread to neighbouring countries like Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania. People see that as a real possibility.

Because Jesus lives we can face life today, tomorrow, and forever,
