From the President

Weathering the Storm

How does God break up trampled down, rock-hard soil and make it much more receptive to the seed of the Gospel? He often sends powerful storms. Severe storms create a sense of urgent need for a power greater than ourselves. This is why those in a boat on tumultuous seas cry out to God. Passengers on a plane going through dramatic turbulence do so as well. Such instances reveal a sense of intense fear and impending doom.

While storms can bring pain, they also signal opportunity. Who would have imagined God using COVID-19 to create opportunities for the Gospel? With intense anxiety and loneliness dominating so many individuals, the soil around their hardened hearts was loosened.

They found themselves with questions to which only God is the answer. This is an expression of his rich grace.

In the pages that follow, we share evidence of the grace of this pandemic season. Responsiveness to the Gospel has increased. Opportunities for engaging the one to reach the many to make disciple-makers have multiplied.

For the impact that God has used One Mission Society to have in 2020 and early 2021 ... and for the past 120 years ... we honor and thank him. We also thank you for your part in this ministry. It takes many people giving of themselves and working in tandem to see God's kingdom grow globally.

May these stories and statistics keep us highly motivated to watch for any new storms God may send ... opportunities in disguise!

In his grip in the midst of turbulence,

Bob Fetherlin

Global President, One Mission Society

Growing for the Next 120 Years of Ministry

By Jeff Edwards, Executive Director,
OMS Global Ministries

God has graciously used One Mission Society (OMS) since 1901 to help fulfill his plan to share the love of Jesus with all nations.

Since 1901, the guiding principles that directed OMS ministry for his kingdom purposes have not changed. However, the phrases we use to define our ministry priorities have been adapted with the times. Today, we refer to our core priorities as our OMS ministry strategy.

Traditional Focus	Updated OMS Ministry Strategy
Evangelism	Multiplying disciples
Church planting	Multiplying churches
Leadership training	Multiplying leaders
Partnership	Multiplying missionaries

Two words that you do not see in the updated OMS ministry strategy are “evangelism” and “partnership.” That is because both of these key ministry elements are implicitly woven into every ministry we do. Evangelism remains a core focus of OMS. Evangelism and partnership are intertwined in all ministries, at every level, as we intentionally serve alongside church leaders in each country.

Multiplying disciples could be considered our foundational engine. However, our goal is larger than discipleship. Our resolve and objective is to make disciple-makers. This is a significant difference that leads toward consistent multiplication. We believe that the power of the Gospel in the hands of disciple-makers will transform the nations.

Our traditional focus on church planting and leadership training remains intact. However, our desire is to be specific about the need to reproduce, and we want to reflect that ideal in our strategy.

Since the value of partnership already permeates how we serve with leaders in each country, our fourth emphasis in the OMS ministry strategy is new. It is about helping global churches live out the Great Commission by establishing missionary-sending movements from countries that have traditionally only received missionaries ... mission fields becoming mission forces.

Our updated OMS ministry strategy helps us move toward greater global alignment. We can be more effective for God’s kingdom if we work collaboratively worldwide. As all missionaries, partners, and ministries work intentionally toward the same goal of engaging the one to reach the many through making disciple-makers, planting churches that reproduce, training leaders at various levels, and sending missionaries from many countries, we will be more useful to his kingdom.

When considering how God can best use OMS over the next several years, we believe that this strategy will help us continue to faithfully fulfill the calling that we have had since 1901.

Student's Bright Future

Akim came to Christ in 2014. Akim says, "The Lord saved me from a world of drugs, depression, and all kinds of sin, and he delivered me to the kingdom of his beloved Son, Jesus Christ." Akim is a second-year student at Maputo Biblical and Theological Seminary (MBTS). He is bright and inquisitive and hungry to learn more about God, Scripture, and theology. Akim serves as part of the leadership team at the Palavra Viva Church and helps with the preaching. The OMS Mozambique missionary team has seen significant growth in Akim as a leader, communicator, and disciple of Jesus. He has been instrumental in serving the church during the challenges of COVID-19. "We see a bright future for him and believe that MBTS will help him continue to grow as a servant leader." — Mozambique team

Africa

Pastor Mande Silas thanks God for bringing Village Church Planting (VCP) Uganda coordinator Fidelité (far left) and her team to his district with the VCP training. He says, "When the OMS VCP team came with their methodology, it worked, and we successfully planted churches for the first time!"

Asia/Pacific

God at Work in the South Pacific

In spite of restrictions and sickness from the pandemic, bad weather and flooding (six churches and parsonages flooded), and earthquakes and volcanoes, people in the South Pacific are coming to Jesus out of Islam and ancestor and animistic worship.

One of the church planting ministries Rev. C* leads had been praying and fasting on Fridays for a specific unreached people group. Rev. J* visited this tribe and reached approximately 165 people. Its members were open to the Gospel, and family units decided to follow Christ. Now, the whole village has accepted the Lord and is preparing to be baptized!

In another area, Rev. J used Every Community for Christ's Train & Multiply materials to share Christ with five Muslim-background believers. All five committed their lives to Jesus and were chased out of their homes as a result. Now, they live with Rev. J and his family. He is discipling them and teaching them how to make new disciples!

Finally, Mrs. L* was Muslim but interested in Christian teachings. She often searched the internet to hear testimonies of people from her background who had come to Jesus. She always asked, "Who is this Jesus?" One of the church members brought Mrs. L to Rev. G*, who shared the plan of salvation with her. Mrs. L accepted Jesus! Rev. G disciplined her for three months before she decided to be baptized. They went to the local river, and many family members attended and heard the Gospel message. Now, Mrs. L is active in the church and has a heart for evangelism, especially for her family members who attended the baptism.

OMS Thailand missionaries Golf and Bethany Tonglamun and their local pastor Enoch baptized J in November 2020. The Tonglamuns are incredibly grateful that they are part of J's discipleship journey. They believe God has amazing plans for this young man and are blessed to see God transforming his heart.*

Plugging In

When 24-year-old Dasha (second from right) interviewed to attend the OMS Ukraine Summer English Camp in May 2018, she wanted to improve her English. She also had spiritual interest, but it was mainly focused on Eastern religions and secular psychology.

At the camp, God opened Dasha's eyes and heart to the person and teaching of Jesus, and she decided to follow him.

She didn't immediately connect with a life group or a follow-up discipleship meeting, partly because she was getting married a month after camp. But she stayed in touch with her cousin Mary (far left), who was a life group member. She also met with OMS missionaries Randy and Shelley Marshall for marriage counseling with her new husband Anton (far right).

The OMS Ukraine team was encouraged to see Dasha grappling with the biblical ideas of marriage and relationships and to see her pre-Christian husband open to considering biblical truths.

Today, Dasha attends a weekly Discovery Bible Study, as well as a weekly life group. Her heart has become so full of God that she must share with friends and family. Anton, although not yet a believer, now expresses significant interest in the Bible and the person of Jesus and occasionally attends a life group.

Middle East

OMS Hungary missionary Will Dickerson taught a student, Eszti (inset, left), about having faith like a mustard seed. She had many questions. After attending OMS' English Camp and being discipled afterwards, Eszti gave her life to Christ and was baptized. Today, Eszti and her husband Peti Gáldi (right) are thriving in their faith and helping lead others to Christ.

Engaging the One

Ángela (pictured with her children) is the director of Soy Satura, a ministry of OMS and Satura Colombia that ministers to Venezuelans who are fleeing the crisis in their country. The ministry provides nutritious snacks and basic education for children, job skill training for mothers, and discipleship and church planting training. In 2020, Soy Satura opened a second location in Venezuela.

Before her interactions with Soy Satura, Nancy stormed from her home in a blind rage. She intended to make a deal to seal the fate of a family enemy. Ángela stopped her in her tracks, comforted her, and shared the Good News of Jesus. Nancy calmed down and later participated in a process of discipleship that transformed her life and her family.

As Nancy grew in her faith, she began helping Ángela and the Soy Satura team as a volunteer, delivering food and making soup on Sundays to feed the hungry. Nancy also started a small church in her home and facilitates Bible studies with her neighbors.

Ángela came to Christ through the Satura Colombia ministry and is now making disciples and strongly serving the Lord. Nancy came to know Christ through Ángela and is now serving the Lord and making disciples. This is the heart of multiplication and is a wonderful example of engaging the one to reach the many!

In Brazil, OMS missionaries Micah and Marla Routon and Brazilian pastor Anderson and his wife Eloisy celebrate that their church congregation nearly doubled in size in 2020, despite the pandemic. Their church focuses on making disciples while serving the city. By investing in current pastors, training future pastors, equipping community leaders, and partnering with the local government to meet physical needs in the community, all while preaching the Gospel message, O Farol Igreja is truly becoming a lighthouse in its city.

Theological Education

As the church grows exponentially in the majority world, so does the need for equipped Christian leaders. OMS Theological Education (TE) exists to empower the development of Christlike leaders for the global church and is committed to providing world-class leadership training and theological education to OMS partners. TE does this by mobilizing theological education consultants to Bible colleges and seminaries, offering intensive teaching and training, mentoring and coaching leaders, and facilitating strategic partnerships.

In 2020, 8 TE team members worked with 27 schools across 14 countries to teach intensive courses, give consultations, mentor and coach leaders, provide needs assessments and training opportunities, serve as board members, and cultivate partnerships. TE celebrated 1,341 graduates from 36 schools.

During this year, Dr. Guenson Charlot (pictured), the newly appointed president of Emmaus University in Haiti, embraced mentoring as a holistic approach to becoming a better servant to one's calling, society, and disciples. To make this a reality, he accepted an invitation from OMS missionary Dr. Ron Freeman, part of the TE team, to enter an intentional two-year mentoring relationship. They have discussed ongoing institutional matters such as organizational structure, funding, and facilities and have processed personal topics such as the grief that comes with the death of family, friends, and colleagues. Together, they are learning that mentoring is a covenantal, beneficial approach to life and leadership.

OMS Ministries

The ministries on pages 10-13 represent OMS' global outreach, serving people worldwide.

World Intercessors

World Intercessors stands in the gap through prayer, bringing the nations and the lost, as well as the global OMS organization, missionaries, ministries, constituents, ministry teams, and partners before the Lord. The team also encourages and equips OMS missionaries and supporters to pray by providing engaging resources and training events.

Sign up to receive the Prayer & Praise Guide via email at info@onemissionsociety.org to be an active intercessor.

OMS Prayer Resources

- Monthly prayer chapels • Prayer with OMS leadership
- Weekly prayer call for specific OMS ministries and missionaries
- Bimonthly Prayer & Praise Guide calendar covering OMS ministries and missionaries
- Monthly prayer wall, with a focus on our OMS USA team
- Prayer coverage for events and trainings • Themed prayer resources
- More than a dozen prayer triplets (groups praying for specific countries)
- Overseas prayer ministry trips (paused during the pandemic)
- New mentoring program for those called to become or help develop intercessors

We offer training in prayer, spiritual warfare, and evangelism.

As we multiply intercessors, we multiply prayer for OMS!

One Mission Kids

One Mission Kids (OMK) equips, empowers, and encourages the next generation of missionary-hearted leaders (ages 4–14) to grow and then Go Out And Tell (GOAT) people about Jesus. By creating innovative, mission-focused content and giving specialized strategic support to families and leaders, OMK helps OMS invest in the future of missions here, there, and everywhere.

In 2020, OMK:

- Released the OMS 10-day virtual missions adventure Makin' Trax With MAX!, reaching kids in at least 9 countries.
- Published Missions to the MAX adventure kits, featuring 10 countries through a series of travel guides and an interactive digital flipbook.
- Produced a full-length, interactive, mission-focused Gospel presentation for kids (and kids at heart).
- Aired nine children's Whatchamacalit audio dramas.
- Established a strong social media presence, reaching kids around the world.
- Provided support to families and leaders through developing and hosting Creative Community Connections events.
- Participated in both in-person and virtual ministry events.
- Strengthened partnerships with Billion.Global ministries, Child Evangelism Fellowship, and e3 Partners.

Testimony of Caleb

*Caleb and his family serve as missionaries in Mexico. A friend told them about the OMK 10-day virtual missions adventure. Caleb's parents prayed that God would use the OMK program to help Caleb understand that God has a special purpose for his living in Mexico and that it wasn't just his mom and dad's calling. Through the Makin' Trax With MAX! program, God challenged Caleb to have a heart for the world and to see his part in missions. His parents knew that God was working when Caleb asked for OMS Japan missionary Lindsay Ohler's contact information. After learning about her sports ministry, Caleb wanted to write her and send her some of his own money to support her!*

Dynamic Women in Missions

Dynamic Women in Missions (DWIM) embraces the opportunities and challenges of spreading the Gospel throughout the world. By offering leadership trainings, conferences, and medical clinics, DWIM restores hope and dignity to empower women for family and community leadership that has a global impact. As women are transformed, they understand their value in Christ and are energized to become active participants in the Great Commission.

DWIM began 2020 with teams from the U.S. in India, Kenya, and Ivory Coast. Then the world as we knew it changed. What could be done without DWIM teams being able to travel? DWIM trusted the Lord to raise up previously trained DWIM leaders to train their own women, and the Lord did so in amazing ways! The U.S. DWIM leadership team adjusted and prepared the material to be presented virtually. DWIM trainers in Ukraine, Uganda, and the Democratic Republic of Congo continued the training in their own countries with positive results. DWIM thanks the Lord for providing other ways in which to train women to reach their communities with the Gospel.

Total trained in 2020 – 1,120 people in 7 countries

Ukraine 8 • India 483 • Rwanda 383
Ivory Coast/Kenya 31 • DRC 97 • Uganda 118

Every Community for Christ

From Hawaii, With Aloha

Billion.Global (B.G) is the visionary movement founded by OMS in 2016 to share the Gospel message with a billion souls within a 10-year window. While this vision started at OMS, God is working through the 168 ministries that are in the Billion.Global Network. To date, more than 334 million people have heard and understood the Gospel. Prayerfulness and willingness to serve together for God's kingdom are hallmarks of this vision. Though 2020 was a different year than any other, the B.G partners shared the same Jesus throughout the year.

Collaboration is a key element of Billion.Global. B.G connected several ministry partners with the JESUS film, and now more than 30 backpacks containing everything needed to show this life-changing movie to a crowd of 200 have been provided to B.G ministries.

Mutually beneficial relationships have begun through and blossomed within B.G. God used the pandemic to unite more than 80 people from all over the world in a virtual gathering of B.G partners. This represents more than 30 partners who originally could not attend the in-person event. We look forward to the kingdom fruit that will be produced through the connections made at the gathering.

In January and February 2020, OMS missionary Lois Pannabecker's puppet training team conducted two puppet workshops in the Philippines. Before they left, they agreed to return in November for further training. Soon after, it became obvious that, due to COVID-19, they would have to lead the training via Zoom. For this virtual training to be effective, they needed additional puppets.

The big question on Lois' mind was, "Where are the puppets going to come from since we cannot make them in the Philippines or take them there?" Lois asked God this question multiple times. In August, he gave her the solution.

Early in his design career, Lois' late husband, David, had created a simple flower puppet. God's idea was that Lois would adapt that pattern and add arms from a baby puppet pattern. God would bring her people from her church in Honolulu, Kalihi Union Church, to accomplish this work. Together, they would make 36 puppets and outfits.

It was a great plan, but as COVID restrictions intensified, the production strategy went through multiple revisions. Fifteen people worked diligently. Materials came from diverse contributors. Friends, near and far, participated through prayer. It was a rewarding team effort!

The words of 1 Chronicles 28:20-21 could describe this project. Here is Lois' paraphrase: "Be strong and courageous and do it. Do not be afraid, and do not be dismayed by COVID complications, for the Lord God is with you. He will not leave you until all the work is finished. With you in all the work will be every willing man and woman who has skill for any kind of service."

Nothing was simple, but God provided for every need. A November typhoon changed the workshop schedule, but Lois and her team ultimately had 2 successful Zoom workshops with 95 people participating. To God be the glory!

We praise the Lord that in 2020,
ECC ministry partners reported
250,445 decisions for Christ in more than 50 countries.

Every Community for Christ \(ECC\) is the church planting catalyst of One Mission Society. ECC uses Train & Multiply and the New Village Church Planting program to multiply dynamic communities of believers in more than 50 countries.

Men For Missions

The Work Goes On

As a ministry focused on short-term trips, Men For Missions (MFM) could have decided that 2020 was a lost year because of the pandemic. But when its global teams were shut down in mid-March 2020 due to travel restrictions, they determined to work on the things they could. The MFM team in the Caribbean did the same.

After four planned trips to the Caribbean in 2020 were canceled due to COVID-19, the MFM Caribbean team took action. Allen, the director of the MFM Caribbean work, continued multiplying his teams and church partnerships throughout the country. They participated in 13 regional team trips and projects.

They collected offerings from team members each month to help establish their own ministry travel fund. They purchased food, which they prepared and sold to raise more ministry funds. They fed the elderly; participated in combined work, medical, and evangelism teams; distributed meals to pastors; produced mango juice from donated mangos and gave it to those in need; and took trips to the south coast to hand out food to churches there.

Because they had witnessed previous MFM teams serving in the Caribbean, Allen and his team grasped the ministry values of MFM and duplicated these principles on their own. It is exciting to see this team active in multiplying disciples, churches, leaders, and missionaries.

MFM, a lay-focused ministry of OMS, mobilizes ordinary men and their families from all walks of life to do extraordinary things by doing, going, and giving whatever God asks. God uses MFM to provide short-term mission opportunities for these volunteers to steward their talents and testimonies while impacting a lost world for Jesus Christ.

HOPE61

The Power of the Gospel

HOPE61 national trainer Emmanuel (Emma) Luswata lives with his wife and two children in Kampala, Uganda, where he is the lead pastor at Holy Ghost Cathedral.

In the midst of pandemic lockdowns and quarantines, Pastor Emma could not hold church services or lead HOPE61 trainings. But he refused to let the pandemic pause the preaching of the Gospel or the message of HOPE61, so he looked for other ways to spread the word. He contacted a local radio station and secured airtime from 12–1 p.m. three days a week.

Listeners hear the Gospel message and learn about human trafficking during each broadcast. Pastor Emma encourages those listening to consider how they can use their unique gifts and talents to help people in the community who are vulnerable or marginalized, which is one of the key aspects of HOPE61's vision to prevent human trafficking. In the last few months, 31 people have called the radio program to give their lives to Christ! (The total number of people who have made a decision for Christ is likely much higher than 31 because many do not have a phone.)

Pastor Emma shared about an incredible phone call from a Muslim man who was listening. He confessed that he had been a trafficker, tricking people into going to the Middle East for work only to be enslaved when they arrived. He repented of his sins, apologized to those he had hurt, and invited Christ into his life as Lord and Savior!

The power of the Gospel is mighty, which is the reason HOPE61 always places the Gospel in the center of all they do. The pandemic could have stopped HOPE61 in its tracks, but thanks to the willingness, flexibility, and ingenuity of trainers like Pastor Emma, the work of ending human trafficking continues.

3,864 trained in ENGAGE trainings in 2020

1,449 trained in ENGAGE trainings so far in 2021

HOPE61 is an evangelism and discipleship catalyst of OMS aimed directly at those who are vulnerable to becoming involved in human trafficking. HOPE61 mobilizes the church around the world to stop all forms of human trafficking. Our trainers help churches worldwide use the talents, abilities, and resources they already have to prevent human trafficking by addressing vulnerabilities that lead to trafficking.

Mercy, inc., an independent ministry partner of OMS, helps transform whole communities in sustainable ways through acts of compassion, in tandem with sharing the Gospel. Mercy serves through disaster relief (including partnering with OMS in COVID-19 relief); training and empowering; health, wellness, and evangelism; business as missions; literacy education; agricultural training; and providing clean-water wells.

Engaging the one to reach the many

We believe the power of the Gospel in the hands of disciple-makers will transform all nations.

Engaging the One

We long to reach everyone with the redemptive message of Jesus Christ. Since the beginning, OMS has strategically and effectively saturated whole communities and nations with the Gospel, but we know reaching the nations starts by sharing the Good News with one person, often a person of peace.

Training the Sons and Daughters

OMS was founded on the principle that the most effective way to share the Gospel is to train a nation's sons and daughters to become disciple-makers who, in turn, make more disciple-makers, thus multiplying believers and churches in their culture and nation.

Equipping Many

We endeavor to equip each new believer to make more reproducing followers of Christ, causing an exponential multiplication of disciples and disciple-makers. As we engage the one to reach the many, we recognize that one life can impact the world.

Praying for All

Prayer is intrinsically woven into the DNA of OMS. From a powerful conversation in Africa to a simple meeting at the OMS World Headquarters, you will experience the faithful, heartfelt prayers of God's people.

Join us in praying that all people will come to know Jesus as their Lord and Savior.
